

JUN 25 1913 GO OCT 'EM HURCH Ep. 12 - "Between the Rails" /
The chapter opens with Hutch barely escaping from being plunged over the cliff on his motorcycle. In his haste, he had dropped the precious papers which he had seized from the surprised Hilton Lennox. In the melee which followed, Sam Dailey escaped with the papers. Thus we find both Hutch and Lennox on the trail of Dailey. But the new possessor of the plans retreated to his tugboat to study them out. Late that night it occurred to Hutch that he might be in the old tug, and hastening there, he was amazed to see the craft had sunk in its place beside the dock.

Quickly calling a stevedore, Hutch made arrangements for a diver to go over the side in the morning. When morning came, Hutch returned to the dock--but no diver. Assuring the dockman that he could perform the task, Hutch donned the suit and went below the surface, where he found the bag containing the papers. While changing his clothes, however, he was outwitted by Dailey, who succeeded in recapturing the plans. With the papers in his possession, Dailey fled for the railroad yards, intending to catch a fast express to his lumber camp. Hutch suspected this and followed hastily, only to miss the express. Seeing a wrecking train leaving the yards, he hurried to overtake it, and unwittingly thrust himself into a new peril.

This document is from the Library of Congress “Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, 1912-1977”

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004>

Class M Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002>

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress